Thursday Will Be Big Day of Week When Parade Takes Place—Connellsville Will Have Prominent Place at Gathering.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 15.—The twentieth national convention of the Loyal Order of Moose will convene on the twentieth of October as the guests of Lodge No. 30. That's getting the twentieth in line in great style.

Uniontown is prepared to do herself proud in honor of the Moose which will grace the city for four days during which time an elaborate program will be carried out. The sessions of the order will be held in the large court room at the court house and two meetings a day are scheduled.

Thursday will be the one big day of the week for the parade will be held then by a big dinner at the West End Theatre. It is in the parade the Connellsburg delegation expects to shine. It will appear in full force, every member carrying a red and white umbrella. Other lodges will also be represented.

Delegates from every state in the union are expected. From nearby points the visitors will be more numerous. A special train will be run from Pittsburgh Thursday, carrying about 500 members.

The official headquarters of the Moose will be established at the Gallatin Hotel. The other hotels and buildings will be brightly decorated in honor of the occasion and it is expected that accommodations will be at a premium.

It was largely through the efforts of E. B. Marshall of Uniontown, John H. Risbeck of Connellsburg and Curtis H. Gregg of Greensburg that Uniontown was selected as the convention city at the Indianapolis meeting last year.

WEST VIRGINIA IS SAFE SAYS TAFT.

Declared Protection Tariff Has Put State on Republican Side—In Enemy's Country.

United Press Telegram.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 15.—Judge Taft spoke to a crowd of 4,000 here this morning. "Protective Tariff has made West Virginia as safely Republican as it has Pennsylvania," said the candidate, "and it will remain so, for the prosperity of the State depends upon the maintenance of the Republican party. As in Pennsylvania there is no danger of the voters of this State turning the management of affairs over to the independence party for they know too well the infamy of Mr. Bryan's tariff for revenue only teaching."

Taft invaded Dixie today, going from Huntington to Ashland, Ky., and from now until Saturday he will be in the enemy's country.

SEVERAL SPEECHES ARE MADE.

European and Native Experts After Making Trip Through Region Arrive at County Seat—After Dinner is Over Visitors Leave in Special Car.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 15.—The party of American and foreign experts reached here last evening and were entertained by the coal and coke operators of the county at the Country Club. The entertainment lasted until early this morning when the party left for Fairmont in a special car.

Dr. Holmes delivered the principal address, which was of a technical nature and abounded in many good ideas relative to mining. Messrs. Watteyne and Meissner also spoke along the same line, although considerable humor crept into their talk. John P. Brennan and E. D. Fulton also made some remarks.

The fan is capable of furnishing 600,000 cubic feet of fresh air per minute at the face of the workings. REPUBLICAN HOSTS SHOW THEIR STRENGTH AT ENTHUSIASTIC MASONTOWN MEETING.

Walled City Stormed By Candidates and Followers—Building Could Not Accommodate Crowd and Overflow Meeting Is Held—Speakers Listened to Attentively—Debs, Socialist Presidential Candidate, Here Saturday—Republican Headquarters Open Here This Evening.

The Walled City of the Klondike was stormed last night by the Republicans who came to the rescue of the Hennington candidate, and so great was the enthusiasm and so large the crowds that it was necessary for several of the speakers to deliver addresses both inside and out of the Arcade Theatre. It was the biggest and most enthusiastic political meeting ever held in Masontown. Cheers for Taft and Sherman and the Republican county ticket echoed from every quarter.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Fayette County Republican Club which accompanied by the speakers left Uniontown in a special car at 6:30 o'clock in the evening, arriving at Masontown at 7:30. From which time until their departure at 10:30 the town was abuzz with red, white, blue, stars and Republican enthusiasm. Every candidate and speaker present left assured after last night's meeting that Southern Fayette will roll up a bigger majority for the Republican ticket than it ever did in history. Last night's meeting proved conclusively that the voters are thoroughly aroused and will give their undivided support to the ticket on November 3.

The parade formed at the street station. It was headed by the Masonic Corner Band, followed by the Fayette County Club which accompanied by the speakers left Uniontown in a special car at 6:30 o'clock in the evening, arriving at Masontown at 7:30. From which time until their departure at 10:30 the town was abuzz with red, white, blue, stars and Republican enthusiasm. He declared that the Democratic party was a calamity howler, always complaining of hard times, and yet during the twelve years reign of the Republican party the wealth and resources of the country had increased every year. He spoke of President Cleveland's two terms in office and recalled the condition of the coke trade in 1891. During the year 1897 he recalled that the coke trade had increased the enormous sum of $55,000,000 and that it was in the Pittsburg Congress and in the Republican who gave the people a protective tariff.

Thomas P. Jones declared, "The Republican party is always on the side of right but the Democratic party has not record. It is a party of promises, many of which have never been fulfilled even when the Democrats have had the chance to redeem them." He compared the accomplishments of each party. What the Democratic party controlled the destinies of the people. He believed that Mr. Bryan's election would mean a serious setback to every kind of business with loss of work and small pay for the workers.

He declared that the Democratic party always goes to the aid of evil things to do to others.

He recited a number of incidents to show that Mr. Bryan was elected a number of proposed business enterprises would be abandoned.

So insistently were the crowds on the outside to hear an address that Representative John S. Carroll, H. Fusilier and James H. Field talked to them almost all the time that the meeting was going along inside the hall. All those men made strong appeals to their Republicanism, and after Congressman Cooper completed his address in the theatre the meeting adjourned to the street, where he again spoke. The crowd jammed the street for several blocks in order to hear him talk.

The Republican candidates were out in full force and did some effective campaigning. The return trip was made to Uniontown at 11:15 o'clock everyone aboard the car feeling that the best meeting of the campaign had been held and that a vast amount of good work had been accomplished.

The Republican candidates present at the meeting were: A. F. Cooper for Congress; William McClelland for prothonotary; G. O. Schreyer for register and recorder; A. B. Hutchinson, for county treasurer; W. S. Blaine and J. S. Langley for county commissioners; Frank M. Lardin, for legislature, first district; J. S. Carroll, for legislature, second district and W. S. Burchinal, for county auditor.

Democrats Decide to Hold Meeting.

The western end promises lively debate in a political way. After having practically given up the idea of holding a political meeting, the Democrats got together yesterday afternoon and decided that it would be fatal to abandon the meeting arranged for Friday night and hastily had some hand printed announcing a meeting in Sons of Veterans' Theatre.

"Silver-tongued" orators were announced for the meeting, and those include many of the following, or so many as will come: Bruce F. Sterling, Woodrow N. Carr, E. C. Higham, D. W. McFadden, or any other Democrat in the county that wants to talk. Music is announced on the bill, but the Tenth Regiment Band after having been told that their services would not be needed arranged for a concert at the Assembly and cannot serve.

Democrats Decide to Hold Meeting.

On Saturday afternoon Debs' "Red Special" will be shifted into Connellsville and Socialism will be talked. The train is scheduled to arrive promptly at 2:15 o'clock, and Washington Head, standing candidate for Congress and Father of Socialism in Fayette, says that the town will be so crowded that walking will be impossible. Debs will take up the greater part of the afternoon.

CLASH BETWEEN WARRING CHURCH FACTIONS IS NARROWLY AVERTED

Congregation of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Is Torn By Internal Dissension.

GENERAL COULTER, VETERAN, IS DEAD.

Westmoreland County's Most Prominent Figure Passes Away.

PARTICIPATED IN TWO WARS.

Had Notable Military Career and Returned to Private Life Where He Became Leading Figure in Development of Resources of County.

GRINNSBURG, Oct. 15.—Major General Richard Coulter, Westmoreland County's most prominent figure during the last half century, died at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A veteran of the Mexican and Civil War his career was one of bravery in battle and of unusual business activity in peace.

General Coulter was a son of Bill and Rebecca Coulter and was born in Greensburg October 1, 1827. His father was a well known business man, active in politics and was for several years prothonotary of Westmoreland County. His mother was a daughter of Col. John Alexander of Carlisle, Pa., an officer of the Revolutionary army.

General Coulter was educated at the Greensburg Academy, at the University Grammar School at Carlisle and at Jefferson College.

In 1855, at the age of 18, he entered the office of his uncle, Richard Coulter, as a law student, remaining until the breaking out of the war with Mexico.

In December, 1858, he enlisted in Company E, Second Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, and served throughout the war. He was engaged in the siege and capture of Vera Cruz; in the battles of Cerro Gordo, Carter, Belen and in the capture of the City of Mexico.

An attack upon Di Sabata's character has been made by his enemies. One of the Italian publications published a photograph purporting to be that of Rev. D. Sabata reclining in the arms of his housekeeper. The photograph was suggestive, and aroused the anger of Di Sabata's friends.

So acute was the enmity that Chief of Police Mazzel was appealed to to stop the distribution of the paper by a friend of the enemy in front of the church as the Italians went to service.

It appears that the man with the paper insisted upon holding up every Indian that went past to show him the picture.

Di Sabata's adherents are loath to believe the photograph is genuine. If it is, they say, Rev. Mazzel took an unfair advantage of the absent priest by rousing the effects and securing the photograph while an occupant of the parsonage. They claim the actions of the Mazzel faction were underhanded and unfair. It further charged that Di Sabata brought Mazzel to Connellsville immediately after his arrival in this county, and placed him in charge of the church during the absence of the regular priest. Since that time Rev. Mazzel and C. A. Galasco, laitor of the church, conspired to secure the dismissal of Di Sabata from the church and the installation of Mazzel as the regular priest. Di Sabata faction also asserts that the priest, upon his return from Italy, went first to Pittsburgh and conferred with Rev. Regis Canevin, Bishop of Pittsburgh, who has jurisdiction over the church, and secured from him authority to resume his place in the church.

The opponents of Rev. Di Sabata say he is no fit man for the position. The photograph found among his effects in the parsonage, they aver, is conclusive evidence of the man's unfitness for the position he holds. They also claim that he allowed gambling and poker games to be played in the basement of the church, which should not have been tolerated. Rev. Mazzel has made a strong impression upon his followers who deem him fully competent to run the church.

Matters nearly reached a crisis last night when Rev. Di Sabata and a number of his friends organized a party to expel the usurper from the parsonage. They were on their way when stopped by Bandmaster Castaldi of the Italian band. The band had been holding practice in the basement of the church and were just leaving when the Di Sabata party reached there. After a conference, during which time violence was urged against the party, it was understood that Rev. Mazzel had disappeared. He has not been seen since Rev. Di Sabata arrived in Connellsville.

RATIONAL CURE FOR ECZEMA

No More Dosing the Stomach—Cure the Skin Through the Skin.

When you have a scratch on your hand you wash it and cleanse it and then cure itself. You do not take blood medicine to cure a festering wound.

The best skin specialists today agree that the only way to cure the skin is through the skin. The fact that eczema is a skin disease, and not a blood disease, is evident from studies which show that nearly all eczema-sufferers are perfectly healthy in all other ways except to their skin. If the eczema patient were really suffering from it, it would affect the entire body and not only the skin would be diseased.

You can prove immediately the effect of a true skin cure by using oil of wintergreen as compounded in Dr. D. Prescription.

This liquid attacks the disease, numbing the skin while building up the healthy tissue of the skin. We have now handled this meritorious and thoroughly scientific remedy for so long and have seen its reliable result so many times that we freely exhort our patients to use it.

THURSDAY EVE'G, OCT. 15, 1908

BRYAN'S RECORDON THE SUPREME ISSUE.

The Unontown Genius quotes Bryan's Tariff record in Congress and speaks glowingly of the young Nebraskan's brilliant speech in 1892 in favor of the Democratic revenue only bill under the operation of which Coxey's ragged army marched to the Capitol steps demanding relief from starvation.

The Genius has done the honest voters of Fayette county a good service in recalling Bryan's record on this bill. It has corroborated the statement already made in these columns that Bryan and the Democratic party was then, and are now, opposed to the Republican policy of Protection to Home Industries.

As hitherto pointed out in these columns, this is the supreme issue in this campaign. The old Bryan policies are discredited and dead, and the present issues of Guaranteed Bank Deposits and Publicity of Campaign Contributions are weak and feeble compared with the Republican Tariff policy which has elevated the standard of American labor's living so high above that of the pauper labor of Europe.

One of the stock arguments of the Bryan organs is that while the wages of labor have materially increased during the past twelve years of unprecedented prosperity under McKinley and Roosevelt, the prices of the necessities of life have been increased in a greater ratio, and that, consequently, the workingman's last condition is worse than his first. The Trusts says The Genius, have raised wages 10 per cent and living 40 per cent. The percentage varies very much among the Bryan statisticians, but they all agree that the workingman is worse off now than ever.

In spite of the bank wreckers' panic of last fall and the unfortunate business depression ensuing, we have yet to hear of any appreciable number of workingmen in want as they were in the years following the enactment of the Tariff of 1892 there is no Army of Unemployed demanding bread, and there has been no necessity for the rejuvenation of the Soup House of悲憤 memory, on the contrary there is scarce a provident workman in the country who has not money in bank.

The desperate Democratic blood may jingle with statistics and manufacture percentages, but the fact remains that under Republican rule the thrifty workingman has been able to lay by a snug sum against a rainy day instead of facing starvation as he did under the Tariff that Bryan's brilliant oratory helped so materially to make and which as President he would even more materially help again to make. These he facts for workingmen to ponder over. Their careful and intelligent consideration will enable them to see through the sophistry of Bryanism and to realize that Republican policies mean common prosperity and Democratic policies uncommon distress.

Don't be deceived about the issues of this campaign. The chief issue to Pennsylvania workingmen and to the county at large is the Tariff. Under the Republican policy of Protection the Nation will resume its unparalleled expansion and prosperity under the Democratic policy of Free Trade there will come industrial stagnation, idleness, and want, lower standards of living and lessening, retrogression, destitution, desolation.

Is it any wonder that the American people hesitate to invite such conditions merely to gratify the whim of caprice, which, when the fruits of prosperity are not growing on every wayside bush waiting only for the outstretched hand to pluck them, cries out for "a change" without stopping to consider whether the change will be for better or for worse?

SALOME AND THE TIMES.
That the Salome dance has proven too much for Presbyterian Pittsburgh is a matter for congratulation. It is an evidence of the fact that the public is awakening to the fifth of the stage and it contains a hope that there will be a similar awakening on the subject of indecent literature.

Referring to the Salome dance as performed in Pittsburgh The Herald says that "Unontown has no element to which such exhibitions as this would appeal. It is gratifying to know that the reform wave has swept over Unontown and cleansed it so thoroughly of all evil."

Caudor cautions us to say that we fear Connellsville has not been so completely sanctified but we feel safe in saying that decency and morality are far enough in the ascendancy to spare us from St. Louis.

WHY WILLIAM A. CLARK IS FOR WILLIAM J. BRYAN.

The Democratic organs announced with great flourish of trumpets that William A. Clark once a Democratic Senator from Montana had declared for Bryan.

There's nothing new about this Senator Clark declared for Bryan long ago as 1892 and it is said that he contributed a large sum to Bryan's campaign fund, though Bryan never made the fact public. He didn't favor campaign publicity that year.

Senator Clark is a silver mining magnate. He was for Free Silver in 1892 and he will be for Free Silver again if he has the opportunity. He will be with the power of the President under existing laws to direct practically unlimited coinage of silver. The effect would be to advance the price of silver button and muck tremendous profits for silver producers.

Senator Clark has a material interest in the making of a free silver President. Why shouldn't he be for Bryan?

In the death of General Richard Coulter one of the oldest and bravest veterans of the Civil War died in both the Mexican and the Civil War and he served in both with distinction. His gallantry gained him the highest state and national decorations. The death of the Coulter family has not dimmed the luster of General Coulter. There remains a Colonel Coulter who is also a veteran in Mexico served with distinction in the Philipino War. The publication of the Coulter's is above reprinted.

The West Penn trolley system shuns at the freight business.

The Mongomery valley friend who writes has blundered into a mess of complications that the severest penalty of the law shall be visited upon him. Though he did not perhaps intend it, the natural consequences of his conduct will be with him the consequences of his unwise possession of a malignant disposition.

The persistent Rinehart agitation indicates something behind which has not yet developed.

The Washington county coal development promises much for Greene county in the near future and Greene county people should be the best to spell such a promising situation by their votes.

The war dogs are beginning to bark in the Balkans.

The News says we are rebuked. We presume the next recognition will be that we are wrong. And we dare not be afraid to assert our views. We know that we are not alone. We know that the editor of the News and his associates. Both are rebuked at times and rank always.

The candidates for Vice President are both working hard and fast in New York heating the records automatically and otherwise.

A colored daily paper is proposed for Pittsburgh. Pittsburgh has some part-colored papers now but they rank always.

The now West Penn cars are the biggest things on the trolley.

The polling places are moving around some.

Some of Fayette county's leaders are doing their duty well but the H. W. is not active.

The Presidential campaign is dull and cold and I am with the Young Men's Christian Association of Connellsville for new numbers.

The foreign mining experts are being brought onto the stage by the patriotic hospital of the Connellsville region but it is safe to say that they are taking home more better than they have given. While the miners are not bad, they can do a great deal upon the ground to profit by our large and costly expenses.

Davidson is resurrecting dead dogs.

Abrahams says his engagement with Miss Katherine Littles has been off. Senator Clark and his wife said that never was an engagement broken so easily. While the poor old man did not say anything, he can do a great deal upon the ground to profit by our large and costly expenses.

A terrible minded Slav with $712 in his pocket took the money from the Democratic treasury that the workingman has been wage paid under the Republic's rule of protection than he was under Professor Wilson's hard control.

The Republican Party the Democratic organ talk about how it is been so depressing to stop building in Connellsville. If the people want to see the real things in business stages let them go to Boston. He and his people will still have them.

The water problem is getting more serious every day. It is told where the power of the Water Works to meet the situation. Prohibition would take on a boxer.

Labor never had a juster judge than the one who gave the workers the right to organize. The people of the Uniontown, Greene, Fayette, and Westmoreland counties have right and the Adm. of Labor of the U. S. having applied to the Pittsburg Bureau of Labor Statistics has sent under the U. S. Commissioner of Labor to the U. S. Office of Labor and Statistics in Washington, D. C. to get the facts.

Come in some time and look around at the many pretty goods that we have here and get a man in the business this store does now. It will convince you that things are better and that this is the place where you want to go to find a store and a price for what you have.

We have made more of an effort for this year to show a picture line of entirely new articles and garments than ever before, and this year has been appreciated so in this season by a good many people. We have no complaints to make about business. I've got the goods here that you want at the right prices and still find that we are doing our share of the selling. JOHN L. SULLIVAN IS "CLOSE" AT 50.

Famous Pugilist Who Has Squandered Fortunes Now Displays Thrift.

GREAT SPENDER IN HIS TIME.

Notable Change Has Taken Place in the Ex-Champion As Old Age Claims Him—Will Not Need Any More Benefits.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 15.—Fifty years ago today there was born in Boston a boy who was destined to become the pugilistic champion and who was to hold the scepter of king over the sporting world for a longer period than any other American before or since his time. He was given the name of John Lawrence Sullivan, and as "John L." the name became familiar in all parts of the world.

Sullivan's old-time friends in Boston are expecting him at an early date and when he comes they have arranged to hold a monster public reception and testimonial in honor of his 50th birthday. Sullivan's return to Boston have always been welcomed by cheering crowds. And his receptions have been almost as enthusiastic in recent years as when he was the undisputed bolder of the world's championship.

When the ex-champion returned home last winter after an absence of several years on the road it was noticed that a great change had come over him. In many respects he was the same John L. as of old, glad to shake hands with his old friends and willing to give his opinion at great length and with oratorical flourish on any subject whatsoever. But before he was many hours in town it was noticed that he was not the spendthrift Sullivan of old. In fact, it was whispered about town that John was becoming somewhat "wear" in his old age.

The fact of the matter is that Sullivan, after squandering fortune after fortune, has become strongly imbued with the spirit of New England thrift. Ever since he parted friendship with "John Barelycorn" Sullivan has been making money and some day that he has been making a great deal of it. Some estimate his present fortune as well along in five figures. However, this may be it appears unlikely that he will be in need of any of the old-time benefits if he continues to follow his present course.

Sullivan's career, so far as money-making enters into it, has been a marvelous one. There are few men who have had more opportunities to accumulate a fortune. All kinds of estimates have been made of his winnings while in the fighting game, and the most conservative of these agree that from the time he met Joe Goss in 1880 until he lost the championship to Corbett, he had received and spent not less than a million dollars. His earnings ranged from a $25,000 purse to $100 or $100 for the simple use of his name, either for advertising purposes or to boom some theatrical combination. One tour of the country netted him $100,000 in a few months' time.

All of his enormous winnings those days was recklessly squandered and only a few years ago Sullivan returned to Boston with hardly enough money in his pocket to pay for a week's lodging. But with him wisdom appears to have come with old age and now, though his earning capacity is much less than when he was in his prime, it is safe to say that he is far better off financially at the end of each year.

HAD QUIT WORK. READY TO GIVE UP IN DESPAIR.

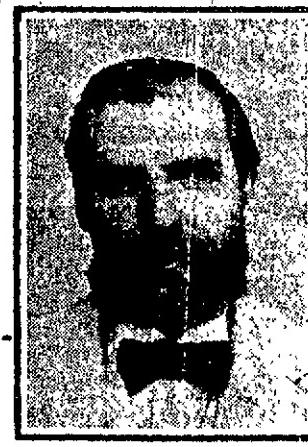

Required to Produce Transportation Before Entering Train.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 15.—(Special.) The rule requiring railroad passengers to show their tickets for inspection before boarding their trains went into effect today on all the railroad lines in Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Minnesota and Arkansas. The new rule is not particularly popular with the trainmen, because it means considerable delay in boarding the trains, at least until the travelling public and the conductors shall have become thoroughly used to the new system.

On the other hand the new system has the advantage, that it will prevent difficulties in paying fares to conductors in trains and will also prevent passengers from boarding the wrong trains or sections of trains. Difficulties with the conductor used to arise frequently when the passengers were required to pay their fare on the train. This has been done away with altogether, as all passengers must procure their tickets before they can board the train. From several of the large railroad centers slight delays and confusion have been reported as a result of the enforcement of the new rule, but the difficulties were not serious and it is expected that the travelling public will soon become accustomed to the new rule.

The Younger Set

By ROBERT W. CHAMBERS.

Author of "The Fighting Chance," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1907, BY ROBERT W. CHAMBERS.

For a moment the glow remained, then a chill doubt crept in. Would he have remained, had he known who she was to be? Where did he go after the dinner? As for what they said, it was absurd. And yet—

She sat, vaguely intent upon the winding fire; she turned restlessly again, elbows close together on her knees, face framed in her hands.

"You ask me if I am dead," she said. "I am—the truth of it."

Her face changed instantly. "What?" she exclaimed, laughing.

But she, very young and serenely intent, was now wrestling with the mighty pliancy of youth. First of all she desired to know what meaning he held for humanity. Then she expressed a doth as to the necessity for human happiness, duty being her discovery as sufficient substitute.

But he heard in her childish bubble the minor murmur of an unbroken quietude for the first time, and he listened patiently and unswayed gravely, touched by her irremediable loveliness.

So when she said that she was tired of gayety, that she would like to study, he said that he would take up anything she chose with her. And when she spoke vaguely of a life devoted to good works — of the water clarity, of being morally equipped to aid those who required material aid — he was very serious but ventured to suggest that she was a sort of dash matronly penance preliminary to her spiritual initiation.

"Yes," she admitted thoughtfully. "You are right. Nini would feel dreadful if I did not go on or if she imagined I cared so little for it all. But one season is enough to waste. Don't you think so?"

"Quite enough," he assured her.

"And—why should I ever marry?" she demanded, biting her clear, sweet eyes to him.

"Why, indeed?" he repeated, with conviction. "I can see no reason."

"I am glad you understand me," she said. "I am not a marrying woman."

"Not at all," he assured her.

"No I am not, and Nini the darling doesn't understand. Why, what do you suppose? But world is a breach of confidence to anybody if I told you?"

"I doubt it," he said. "What is it you have to tell me?"

"Only—it's very, very silly—only several men—and one at a time—know to know better—Said my Gran."

"Asked you to marry them?" he flushed, reddening his head at the at

"Yes," she admitted, blushing crimson.

"I inferred it. Go on."

"There is nothing more," she said without embarrassment. "I told Nini each time, but she could not see me by asking for details, and the details were too foolish and too annoying to repeat. I do not wish to marry anybody if I think I made that very plain to everybody."

"Right, as usual," he said cheerfully.

"You are too intelligent to consider that sort of thing just now."

"You do understand me, don't you?" she said, gratefully. "There are so many serious things on life to learn and to think of and but is the young last thing I should ever consider. I am very, very glad I had this talk with you. Now I am rested, and I shall retire for a good long sleep."

With which paradox she stood up, stretching a thin yawn, and looked smilingly at him, all the old sweet confidence in her eyes. Then, suddenly for ten minutes Selwyn talked to him with all the fervor and abundant confidence of a comradeship founded upon respect for mutual reliability of instruction, no admonition, no blame, no reproach, only an affectionately logical review of matters as they stood and as they threatened to stand.

The boy fortunately was still pliable and susceptible, still unshamed and frank. It seemed that he had lost memory again, this time to Jack Ruthven, and Selwyn's teeth remained sternly interlocked as bit by bit the story came out, but in the telling the boy was not quite so frank as he might have been, and Selwyn supposed he was able to stand his loss without seeking aid.

"Anyways," said Ruthven in a muffled voice, "I've learned one lesson—that a business man can't require the lights and keep the internal hours that suit people who can take all day to sleep it off."

"Right," said Selwyn.

"Besides, my income can't stand it," added Ruthven merrily.

"Neither could mine, old fellow. And, Gerard, cut out this card just

"on account of my age?"

"Your age?" contemptuous in her confident equality.

"Oh, my wisdom, 'ben't? You probably reverence me too deeply."

"Probably not. I don't know. I couldn't very well tell you anything except 'Captain Selwyn'."

"'Your age?' contemptuous in her confident equality."

"Oh, my wisdom, 'ben't? You probably reverence me too deeply."

"Probably not. I don't know. I couldn't do it—it's something."

"'Try it—unless you're afraid.'"

"'I'm not afraid!'"

"'Yes, you are, if you don't take a dare!'

"'You dare me?'

"'I do.'

"'Philip,' she said, hesitating, admiring in her embarrassment. "Nini! Nini! I can't do it that way in cold blood. It's got to be Captain Selwyn, for a while anyway. Good night."

He took her outstretched hand, touching the man's little friendly smile followed. Then she turned gradually away, leaving him standing before the whistling coke.

He thought the fire was dead, but when he turned out the lamp an hour later under the arched eaves glowed

Johnson's Rival
For Governor
Of Minnesota.

The race between Governor John A. Johnson of Minnesota and Jacob F. Jacobson, his Republican rival took on an interesting phase when a question arose as to Jacobson's citizenship. It has been asserted that Jacobson was born in Norway in 1849, came to America with his father in 1857 and that neither father nor son ever took out naturalization papers. The matter is being investigated by the Republican committee of Minnesota.

all over. Captain Selwyn, Fane, Harman & Co. know that Mr. Gerard ought to know it too."

Selwyn looked troubled. "Shall I consult Mr. Gerard?" he repeated. "I should like to if you have no objection."

"I haven't the slightest idea of what he might do, especially—" he hesitated. "You never have had any loans from his people, I understand."

"No," said Neogard, "I hasn't."

"It's rather out of his way, I believe."

"So they say. But Long Island negroes needn't beg favors now. That's about it."

Neogard turned in his tracks and looked almost at him.

"Do you think there's any chance of his changing the thing?"

"I haven't the slightest idea of what he might do, especially—" he hesitated. "You never have had any loans from his people, I understand."

"No," said Neogard, "I hasn't."

"It's rather out of his way, I believe."

That night Selwyn stopped at his sister's house before going to his own rooms and finding Austin alone in the library. He told the matter before him exactly as Neogard had put it.

"Naturally," cut in Selwyn dryly and, turning to his littered desk, opened the first letter his hand encountered. Now this the boy was turned at the back of his neck for a long minute, then went out silently.
